'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

This outboard motorboat racing has a thrill that no other sport possesses.

* * * *

Hundreds of Richmond people were at the inner harbor Sunday to see the speedy little boats, with motors half their size hitched on the rear, go down the choppy waters of the harbor at high speeds.

* * * *

And how those little boats gallop and buck about like wild bronchos.

* * * *

And riding in these is wet work. If you don't believe us, ask Doc Kent, whose speedy little boat won two distance races on Sunday.

* * * *

Doc drew his boat up to the pier after winning the 12 mile race and when he got out, water dripped from his clothing.

* * * *

And in the 30-mile race—well—some of the drivers sopped up a good part of the harbor.

* * * *

One thing one may say for these drivers, they are good sportsmen.

* * * *

In the midst of the runabout race, one tiny boat carrying a crew of two men broke down.

* * * *

For fifteen minutes the crew worked vainly trying to fix the balky motor. Then they saw it was useless.

* * * *

They tried to steer the boat in the swells—to find that the steering gear was broken.

* * * *

The official launch that was cruising in the neighborhood dropped over and threw them a line.

* * * *

"Gosh," the driver grinned, "this water is wet and this wind is cold. Let's get to shore."

* * * *

As the launch and its tow started for shore, a member of the crew saw another tiny boat almost against the rocky shores at the far end of the harbor.

* * * *

Immediately the launch started for the other boat.

* * * *

For more than a half hour the crews worked before a line was passed to the second boat.

* * * *

And as the two disabled craft were being towed back to shelter, their crews kept exchanging wise cracks with the passengers on the launch.

* * * *

Wet, tired and cold the two boats finally reached shore. As the lines were cast off and the launch prepared to resume its patrol of the race course, one of the passengers of the launch shouted to the pilot of one of the disabled boats: "Tough luck, eh, buddy?"

* * * *

"Naw," the pilot shouted back, "this is all in the day's sport."

SAN DIEGO CO. ALLOWED TO WITHDRAW

Councilman Walter Johnson voted "no" at the meeting of the city council last night on the awarding of the sewer contract in the industrial district to Jasper, Stacey and company.

He held that there was too great a difference between the bid of O. U. Miracle and the Stacey company.

This is the sewer that the Ford company is very anxious to see installed and completed before its factory is erected.

The bid of Miracle $$99,209 was permitted to be withdrawn as the bidder stated his estimator had made a serious error in making his computations.

The bid of Jasper Stacey company was $139,946.20 and this firm was awarded the contract.

Most of the members of the council before voting for the award of the contract, stated they thought the firm should give the preference to local labor.

O. W. Jasper, of the firm stated that was agreeable to him, and wherever local men were capable of doing the work they would be given an opportunity.

The original estimate of the city engineer on the job was $110,000, but later when it was ascertained that the bond house of Elliot and Horne, had changed its bid on the bonds from a ten percent discount to a twenty percent discount, he was forced to change his estimate on the work to $128,500.

LONG FIGHT FOR FREIGHT RATE PARITY WON BY CITY

A decision that means much to the future of Richmond and its shipping was made public at the meeting of the council last night when notice was received from the Interstate Commerce Commission that Richmond had been placed on a parity with San Francisco and other eastbay cities, so far as freight rates to Los Angeles and Portland are concerned.

The decision means that Richmond will be known as a port of call in the future, and that shippers can send their goods from this city to other points and be on the same basis as neighboring cities.

It means that shippers using Richmond will not be penalized by an extra freight charge.

The decision is the result of a long, hard fight, that has been going on for the past year, and reflects great credit on City Attorney T. M. Carlson, as he bore the brunt of it.

The matter first came up before the Interstate Commerce Commission at a hearing held at Portland at which City Manager McVittie gave testimony as well as Frank Chandler, the traffic manager of the Certainteed-Products corporation. Carlson acted as attorney for Richmond at this hearing.

Later on another session of the commission was held at Washington D .C. Carlson made a trip to that city and made the arguments before the high body.

The facts were placed before the commission in such a clear and convincing manner, the justice of the claim of Richmond was so forcibly put, that the request made was finally granted.

SESSIONS OF SENATE ARE CLOSED

WASHINGTON, July 21.—UP—A weary senate ratified the London naval limitation and reduction treaty today by the overwhelming vote of 58 to 9.

A half hour later at 5 p. m. the senate adjourned sine die its special treaty session. Three appointments by President Hoover for the new federal power commission were blocked and must go over to the December session.

The agreement extends to all classes of warships the limitation theory applied to battlehsips by the 1922 naval pact. Great Britain is placed on a parity with the United States, treaty supporters hold, and Japan is granted lesser tonnages.

Savings Seen

Savings in future naval construction are estimated in the hundreds of millions of dollars; but some of its critics charge that the $1,071,000,000 which will be required to build the American navy up to parity in the five-year life of the treaty is too much.

Three of America's battleships, five of Britain's and one of Japan's will be junked under the treaty. One of these from each nation will be turned into a training-ship, the others scrapped or sunk. No new battleships are provided for under the treaty, which extends for five years more the capital-ship building holiday of the 1922 treaty.

The ratification vote came at 4:30 p. m. of the twelfth day of the special session of the senate

NEW HEARING FOR BILLINGS

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21—UP—Justices of the State Supreme Court decided here today that they would hear John MacDonald, who came to San Francisco to retract testimony he gave against Tom Mooney and Warren K. Billings, and they would weigh his new statements in determining Billings' second application for pardon.

Another development of importance was the decision that MacDonald will be taken before Governor C. C. Young for an "interview" Tuesday, the fourteenth anniversary of the preparedness day tragedy here. The governor is expected to indicate a date for his formal hearing.

The supreme court early this month recommended against a pardon for Billings. It's action in granting a rehearing set a new precedent since there has been no recourse to an appal in such cases in the past.

False Testimony

MacDonald has been located since the supreme court's adverse action, however, and has made an affidavit that his testimony at the trials of Mooney and Billings

ODD FELLOWS NINE SPLITS 2 GAMES

The Odd Fellows' nine of Richmond was not exactly triumphant and yet not downcast over the results of their double header with the Oakland Monarchs Sunday afternoon at the Monarch ball park in Oakland.

The first half of the double event was won by the locals by a score of 4 to 3.

The Monarchs were victorious by a 5 to 1 score in the last contest of the busy afternoon.

The competition was exceptionally close and hot in both battles. The score at the beginning of the ninth inning of the first game, was tied, 3 to 3. Murphy and Taylor then collected doubles to win the game for Richmond.

Johnny Babich pitched sensational baseball for Richmond in this contest, fanning 10 men and allowing but five hits. Rosano did the receiving job for Richmond.

In the second contest, the Oaklanders started out in fine fashion to reap a total of five runs in the first period. But then Taylor, on the mound for Richmond, settled down, and allowed only one more hit during the remainder of the game. However, the Monarchs were determined not to be shut out, and held the locals at the bottom of the pile.

BERKELEY NINE DEFEATS LOCAL JUNIORS

In the second contest of a two game series for the American Legion junior baseball title of the eastbay district, the Richmond American Legion youngsters were eliminated from play by a 7 to 6 score by the Berkeley nine Sunday afternoon at Alameda.

The locals showed far more speed and accuracy and hitting ability in the second game of the series than they did in the first, but a last inning rally on the part of the Berkeleyans spelled defeat for Richmond Sunday.

The score at the beginning of the ninth inning was tied 5 to 5. In the first half of the last period, Outman scored for Richmond, and the horizon looked pretty rosy for the local boys. But Berkeley came back in the last of the inning to jump into a one run lead.

Reno Passoni, on the mound for Richmond, was nicked for 12 hits and fanned five Berkeleyans.

Shoemaker did the chucking for Berkeley, allowing four hits and whiffing six local sluggers.

The Berkeley team is now titlist of eastbay American Legion competition, as a result of Saturday's and Sunday's wins over Richmond. They have risen to the present standing under the coaching of Harry Kingman.

Execution Of Pets Halted By Court

LOS ANGELES, July 21—UP—Three dogs and two cats frolicked in a dog and cat hospital today little knowing that only a mandate of the law saved them from death.

The dogs, valued at $2300, and the two silver angora cats, were condemned to die by their mistress, Mrs. Charles Winterman, whose unusual order became known after her death last night.

"I know I shall have my pets on the other side," Mrs. Winterman wrote to Dr. C. A. White and W. R. Carr, proprietors of an animal hospital. "I cannot bear to think of them going to strange owners who might not treat them kindly."

The doctors made ready to fulfill the woman's last request by injecting a painless poison when Mrs. Nancy White of Hollywood, one of many dog owners who protested against the executions, secured a temporary injunction.

Mrs. White contended that the dogs and cats have no soul and after life and that their destruction merely would depreciate Mrs. Winterman's estate with injury to the beneficiaries.

Superior Judge William Hazlett set July 31 as the date for arguing the motion for a permanent injunction.

Girl Death Probe Brings New Suspect

WASHINGTON, July 21—UP—Surprising new developments were uncovered late tonight in the Mary Baker murder investigation, detectives announcing that suspicion had turned definitely to Herbert M. Campbell, owner of the gun which has been identified as the weapon that killed the pretty navy department clerk here last April 11.

At the same time, it was revealed that Herman Barrere arrested in Montreal last week and brought her as a suspect in the killing, would be released on the murder warrant but held as a material witness.

Campbell, an Arlington real estate man is reported to have broken under questioning and to have admitted the gun was not stolen from his home just prior to the killing. He stuck to his claim that he did not know Miss Baker, however.

Warrant Out For Film Actor

LOS ANGELES, July 21—UP—Failure of John Bowers, motion picture leading man to appear in night police court caused forfeiture of $150 bail the actor posted after his arrest on a charge of being intoxicated in an automobile.

A bench warrant was issued.

According to police reports, Hollywood residents complained that Bowers and two women were "holding target practice" in a section of the film center last Friday night.

The arresting officers declared the actor challenged them to target practice, saying he could defeat them "shooting upside down."

Bowers, at the time, denied he was intoxicated.

Dr. Francis Kent Wins Two Events At Outboard Meet

Dr. Francis Kent, local outboard speed burner, was triumphant Sunday in the first outboard motor regatta to be held on the Richmond inner harbor.

Kent won the amateur 30 mile race in his boat the "Lur Alyse," and he was also successful in the 10-mile race for amateurs.

In spite of choppy weather, Kent made good time in both events. In the first race, he made 30 miles in one hour, 14 minutes, and 22 seconds.

Roy S. Miller, of Lodi, driving his "Torchy" finished second, with a time of one hour, 15 minutes and five seconds.

Kent's time in the 10-mile race was 24 minutes and 19 seconds. "Barnacle Bill," driven by William Thompson, captured second place in this event.

In the 30-mile event for professionals, Herman Wright of Lodi, driving the "Aloha II" was victorious. His time was one hour and six minutes and 54 seconds. Bessie Hefflefinger of Oakland, driving the "Indian" finished second with a time of one hour, seven minutes, 26 seconds.

Due to a strong gale that was blowing all day Sunday, the entire program of 12 races was not held as scheduled.

The regatta was held under the auspices of the Richmond Outboard Motor club. Tony Alameda was the commodore of the meet. V. F. Baker was referee.

Great interest in the sport of outboard racing was displayed by the large crowd that lined the wharves bordering on the course Sunday.

A large number of prizes were left over from Sunday's regatta, and it is believed that more races will be held here soon.

I. O. O. F. WILL MEET FIREMEN BALL TEAM

A possible solution for the three-way tie in the Richmond City Twilight league has at last been offered.

The Odd Fellows and Firemen two of the teams concerned in the baseball tangle, have decided to take the matter in hand, and will battle for supremacy Thursday afternoon on the Richmond Union high school diamond.

The critical contest will start at 5:30 o'clock.

Johnny Babich, clever high school chucker, will twirl for the lodgemen, while Bill Gualdoni will do the receiving.

Either Kamb, Johnny Huzefka, or Steve Huzefka will occupy the mound for the fire fighters Thursday afternoon, with Morrison behind the plate.

Thursday's game is the first step that has been taken to break up the three-way tie in the twilight circuit between the Odd Fellows, Firemen and Native Sons. The situation has been at a standstill for several weeks, and the action taken by the linkers and firemen has been welcomed by league authorities and fans as the way out of a big difficulty.

However, the Native Sons are still to be reckoned with. There has been a dispute of long-standing concerning the eligibility of a player used by the Native Sons in a contest with the Mechanics Bank early in the season. If this game was declared forfeited to the bankers, the Native Sons would be out of the running. As it remains, no decision has yet been arrived at in connection with this argument.

Anyhow, the atmosphere will certainly be clearer after either the Odd Fellows or Firemen get shoved off their league pinnacle.

Local M. W. A. Nine To Meet Alameda Lodge

Unable to bunch their hitting, the Richmond Modern Woodmen of America were taken into camp by the Elmhurst Woodmen by a score of 7 to 6 Sunday morning at First street.

Seven errors also prevented the locals from coming out on top of the pile. The Richmond athletes gathered 11 hits off Asevedo, while Elmhurst gained only seven bingles off Richmond's battery, Sargent and Bono.

E. Jester did well with the hickory for Richmond Sunday, making good three out of five chances at home plate. Kling starred in hitting for the visitors, collecting two hits.

This game was Richmond's second defeat of the year. It is still well up in the running, and there is a good chance that it will again soar to its former position at the top of the league ladder.

B.P.W. CLUBS END GOOD YEAR

LOS ANGELES, July 21—United more strongly than at any time since the state convention in 1927 at Sacramento, the California Federation of Women's clubs just closed its first year under the administration of Mrs. William Walter Slayden of Los Angeles.

"There have been many achievements in the state federation of both local and national importance since its organization thirty years ago," states Annie Little Barry, Berkeley, vice-president at large, "but none has excelled the work of Mrs. Slayden during the past year in building up a spirit of harmony, unity, and cooperation among the federated club women of California. At the beginning of our second year under the present administration we are looking confidently toward definite accomplishment in all departments of the organization and in all our efforts toward community betterment."

Individual clubs also voice their appreciation of the present growth of the federation and of many similar letters received at the State Headquarters in Los Angeles, that of the Highland Park Ebell to Mrs. Slayden expresses the clubs' opinions:

"In appreciation of the fine work you are doing for the women of the State of California, as exemplified at the last state convention at Oakland; the members of your club, the Highland Park Ebell, wish again to pledge their loyalty to you and their cooperation with you the outstanding work you are doing."

The daily activities of the president of the California Federation of Women's clubs are many and varied: the past year Mrs. W. W. Slayden presided at all monthly board meetings, the two day summer conference, the state convention, and was present at the six district conventions of the state. She attended the ten day Biennial of the General Federation and its two executive sessions of the year in the East, also luncheons, afternoon and evening meetings of various state and national groups where she usually delivered an address. She held daily week day conferences answered several hundreds of telephone calls, sent many telegrams and wrote 2,186 letters.

According to the report of Miss Claire Guiberson, Corcoran, chairman of the board of trustees, the past year's administration was exceptionally economical in that most members of the state board used under the amount of money budgeted for them for the year's work.

Because of ill health, Mrs. Ellen L. Warner, member of the reorganization council and Mrs. L. G. Leonard, chairman of the revision committee, both of Oakland, Alameda district, have resigned but Mrs. Leonard will be retained on the state board as an advisory member of this administration.

The state headquarters at 909 Chapman building, Los Angeles, will be open all summer. During the summer months preparations for the coming club year make greater demands on the time of executives than during most of the year. Mrs. P. H. Johnson, La Canada, state corresponding secretary is compiling the new state directory and reports that much of it is already in the hands of the printer.

During July and August there will be no publication of the California Federation News but the new offices of the News staff at 910 Chapman building, Los Angeles, will also be open during the entire summer. Mrs. John Stearns Thayer is preparing the September issue and Mrs. Mark Jones, South Pasadena, the new circulation manager, is preparing plans for the coming year. She just returned from the Southern district where she spoke before the two day conference of that district. She was accompanied by Mrs. Harry Louis Stroh, Los Angeles, also a speaker at the conference, and Mrs. George Purnell, Los Angeles. Welcomed at the conference was Mrs. Henry

BYRD FLIGHT IN FILM AT THE FOX

Busy as he was with all the details of the gigantic South Pole expedition on his shoulders, Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd whose achievement in circling the South Pole by airplane and exploring the ice-covered territory at "the bottom of the world" has stirred a world-wide acclaim, was never too preoccupied to take note of the interesting human-interest sights which occurred during the stay of the expedition in the Antartic.

Williar Vander Veer, Paramount camera-man with the expedition, says the intrepid leader was indefatigable in calling the attention of himself and his co-worker, Joseph Rucker, to interesting incidents he ran across; a battle between seal and sledge dog puppies, a roundup of the solemn penguins whose insulted dignity made one of the funniest scenes in the entire film-record brought to the United States by Paramount; the entire personnel lined up, including the admiral himself, each man shaving the head of the man in front of him in preparation for the long winter night.

These are only a few of the heartily humorous incidents in the master picture 'With Byrd at the South Pole,' which will show at the Fox-California theater starting today for 2 days. The film is filled with the romantic heroism, the homely humor the daring feats and the awe-inspiring wonder of Byrd's gigantic undertaking. From the moment the expedition landed in Little America until the final trek for home, the moving picture document shows the hardships, the amusements, the drama and romance of the forty-two men who braved the perils of the unknown.

Admiral Byrd, himself, played an important part in making the picture. Vander Veer, who als oaccompanied the leader on his previous expedition to the North Pole, says, "It was largely due to the continual cooperation of Admiral Byrd that Rucker and myself were able to secure the film that we are confident will result in one of the most outstanding moving pictures of all times. The same personal interest he gave the work of every scientist attached to the expedition secured for us not only a complete photographic record of the expedition's life in the Antarctic, but also permitted us to develop all the elements necessary for a feature production of adventure, pathos, comedy and drama."

Also on the program is a talking comedy entitled "The Stronger Six."

ENGLISH ACTOR AT RICHMOND THEATER

Reginald Sharland, English actor who made his talking film debut in Radio Pictures' "Girl of the Port," now at the Richmond theater, often wondered how movie directors secured realism in their screen stories.

He doesn't wonder any longer.

He found out—and graphically—when fire-walking sejuences of the John Russell Fiji Island melodraa John Russell Fiji Island melodrama were staged at the RKO studios.

His cue was to pause amid the hungry flames and say "For God and right!" Twice he dodged at critical times, as particularly wicked blazes shot his way. Twice the "take" was marked "N. G."

But Bert Glennon, the director has all the patience in the world. So Sharland was put into the fire again.

This time he stood fast—to which a couple of blistered arms will testify. And the scene, according to the reaction of the Richmond theater audiences, is most effective.

NAVAL TREATY RATIFIED BY SENATE

called by President Hoover unloosed deluges of talk and reservations.

Few Talks

The treaty advocates, led by Senators Reed, Repn., Pa. and Robinson, Dem., Ark., who as delegates helped to draft the treaty in the three month London conference early this year, contented themselves with less than a dozen formal speeches. They let the opponents, led by the aggressive Hiram Johnson, Repn., Calif., talk themselves out.

The opponents in half a hundred speeches talked over most of the days of debate. They repudiated charges of filibustering, but strenuous canvassing brought back to Washington more than 60 senators—enough to insure a quorum, or working majority.

Then, today, with the opponents resting on their millions of words in the records, and with the thermometer about 101 outside, the leaders brought up the reservations and mowed them down by vote after vote.

Nine Opponents

The die-hard opponents who opposed the treaty on the final roll call numbered 15. Only nine senators were present to vote against the treaty. Seven of these, Bingham, Conn.; Hale, Me.; Johnson, Calif.; Moses, N. H.; Oddie, Nev.; were Republicans. McKellar, Tenn. and Walsh, Mass., Democrats, also voted against it. It was announced that six others, Broussard, La.; Pittman, Nev.; Copeland, N. Y.; and Blease, N. C.; Democrats; Waterman, Repn., Colo., and Shipstead, Farmer-Labor, Minn., would have voted against the treaty. All six of these were paired, five of them each against the pro-treaty absentees under the two-thirds majority rule, and one irregularly against a single pro-treaty absentee.

One of the senate's honeymooners, Baird, Repn., N. J., who interrupted his wedding trip abroad to dash back to vote for the treaty, arrived a few minutes late for the vote. The other newlywed, Smoot, Repn., Utah, has been here several days, he and his bride being White House guests.

JAKE FLEAGLE FLEES FROM MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, July 21—UP—Mexican and U. S. officials here are convinced that Jake Fleagle, sought in connection with the Lamar, Colo. Bank robbery and murders, has left Mexico and at present is in New Mexico.

The information which has just reached the officers, and which is credited by them, is that the alleged murderer is hiding in the sparsely populated hills of an unnamed part of the state.

Colorado officers, including the sheriff of Lamar county returned to their homes a month ago after a futile search for Fleagle in Mexico City, the region near the capital and many sections between here and the northern border.

The thorough search the Mexican police have made for the Colorado fugitive had convinced them even before receipt of the information from Mexico City that Fleagle was no longer within the borders of this country.

Senate Fails To Confirm Nominations

WASHINGTON, July 21.—UP—President Hoover's plans to reorganize the federal power commission was postponed for six months today when the senate failed to confirm his nominations to the new regulatory body.

The senate, however, approved several of the president's last minute appointments including William H. Jardine, of Kansas, former secretary of agriculture to be minister to Egypt and Brig. Gen. F. E. Hines of Utah to be administrator of Veterans affairs.

In view of the senate action the president will be unable to set up the new power commission until the next session of congress in December and the present commission composed of three prominent officers will continue to control the nation's great power resources.

Reorganization of the commission was authorized by congress during the present session at the president's recommendation. A separate commission of five members was legislated to replace the present commission.

Six Persons Killed In Plane Blast

CHAPMAN, Kent. July 21—UP—Six persons were killed today when a distinguished group of passengers flying from Le Touquet, fashinoable gaming resort in France to Croyden in a trans-Channel service monoplane plunged to death after an explosion aboard the machine in mid air over the village of Meopham, Kent.

The Viscountess Ednam, daughter of the Duke of Sutherland, and wife of the wealthy Viscount Ednam was among the dead.

An eye-witness said there was an explosion aboard the all metal monoplane, after which it appeared to break to pieces, the engine dropping into the yard of a bungalow, while a wing landed a mile away.

The passengers plunged into a cherry orchard on a farm adjoining the village.

The cause of the disaster remained a mystery tonight. The gasoline tanks were found intact, and no signs of fire were located. The authorities were unable to explain the reported explosion.

Miss Pickford Denies Divorce From Douglas

HOLLYWOOD, July 21—UP—While Jean Harlow, exotic screen star of recent ascendency today started divorce proceedings, Mary Pickford, known as "America's Sweetheart," emphatically denied rumors that she and Douglas Fairbanks were contemplating separation.

Miss Harlow in suing Charles F. McGrew, member of a wealthy Chicago family, alleged that her husband was cruel.

Once, in San Francisco, the actress declared, McGrew threw bottles and a glass at her.

Miss Pickford made her denial at her home.

"I honestly never knew anybody hated me enough to start such a terrible report," she said. "Of course there is not a vestige of truth in it. I cannot understand how people say such things."

Rumors that the famous pair might be divorced started in Hollywood and New York several months ago when Fairbanks went to Europe and Miss Pickford stayed in Hollywood.

Recently the actress was working on a picture and production was stopped. It was said today, however, that the film will be completed as soon as Sam Taylor, director, finished work at another studio.

STORMS WILL END HEAT WAVE

Mrs. Charles S. Anderson apparently was driven insane. She murdered her husband with an axe while he slept. Then she killed her 18-year old son with the same weapon. Next she set fire to their farm home. Finally she slashed her throat with a butcher knife.

Bodies Found

Authorities from Geneva, Ill., found the bodies in the flaming house, which the glittering sun seemed to make blaze even more vigorously.

Cloudy skies and breezes from the Great Lakes later in the day sent temperatures skidding back down to normal. Heat groggy citizens then began estimating the toll taken by the scorching sun.

Farmers generally were forced to postpone harvesting because of the danger attendant to working out of doors. Hundreds of head of livestock toppled over and died.

Crops Ruined

Crops in many sections were ruined. Throughout the whole great whaat and corn areas all growing things were damaged.

Prolonged drouths in Kansas, Nebraska, Illinois and Missouri continued to lay low crops before they could be harvested.

By tomorrow, unless the weather bureaus are wrong, rains will be general. Temperatures over the whole area will fall materially, the bureau added, and normal thermometer readings will prevail at least for several days.

Storms Seen

The cooling storm clouds scudded in from the Rocky Mountain region where summer resort vacationists have been spending most of their time being photographed in overcoats and ear muffs.

The Pacific Coast, too, basked in pleasant temperatures while the rest of the nation was suffering. The highest temperature in Los Angeles was 76 while cities further north enjoyed thermometer readings even lower.

Exchange Club To Hear Talk On County Tax

The members of the Exchange club of Martinez will be host today at their weekly noon-day luncheon meeting at Traveler's hotel to officials of the Contra Costa division of California Taxpayers' association.

J. D. Keith, one of the leading officials of the tax association, will be the speaker.

With the county now in the midst of preparing its budget for the coming fiscal year, and the subject of taxes generally being constantly before the people at the present time, due largely to the campaign speeches of the three candidates for the governorship of the state, the talk on taxation tomorrow will be timely.

Keith will outline the purposes of the tax association, and it is also expected he will comment upon the county budget, and the prospective tax rate for the coming year.

Race War Feared In Sebastopol

SANTA ROSA, July 21.—UP—There was a general exodus of Filipinos from the vicinity of Sebastopol tonight and all available county officers were in the region to prevent an outbreak of a race war.

White laborers, disgruntled because the Filipinos were working on apple ranches for 15 cents an hour less than they asked, had issued an ultimatum for all Filipinos to leave. A number went to San Francisco but some refused to be threatened.

Another Chicago Gangster Shot

CHICAGO, July 21.—UP—Pete Enasira west side gangster known as 'Ash Can Pete" was shot and seriously wounded tonight in a west side soft drink parlor.

Ringing true to the code of gangland, Enasira refused to talk after he had been rushed to the hospital. Physicians there said he probably would die from four bullet wounds in his abdomen.

TELLING THE WORLD

By Neal O'Hara

(Believing that the movie producers are clamoring for talent, we publish to-day, in our series of home lessons on success, full instructions on how to get into the talkies. It is practically every one's ambition to be a film star, but the only ones who actually get on the screen are 800,000,000,000,000 house flics and several hundred actors. By studying these lessons in your spare hours at night (or in the daytime if you are loafing—it makes no difference to us), you can get the knack of movie acting and start on the road to success. (Road may 50 cents extra.) Ambitious students who follow these home instructions will have their chances of ultimate success increased from .00 to .00000 per cent. At the conclusion of this term of home studies each student will receive a diploma entitling him or her, or both, to enter the leading studios, if they can get in.)

HOW TO BREAK INTO THE MOVIES

If one is to be a successful film star, it is essential to know that the talkies are made in New York and Hollywood. Owing to three hours' difference in time between these cities, the work is much harder in Hollywood. For when the talkie actors are finishing the day in New York, they are just getting started on the afternoon's work in Hollywood. They get no overtime for this, either.

Accordingly, the beginner should bear this in mind: that when it is night time in Italy it is only Tuesday in Hollywood. Your watch should be set back one hour at Toledo, O.; Dodge City, Kan., and Flagstaff, Ariz.

Once you have mastered these facts, you are on your way to screen fame. Now let us have a brief resume of what we have learned thus far. First of all, talking pictures are made in New York and Hollywood. Of course, they are also made in Lima, O., when there is an Elks' parade there, or in Wichita, Kan., when the annual apple carnival is held. But the news weeklies pay practically nothing for their talent, if they pay that much. You could appear in fifty-two consecutive releases of the Pathe Weekly and still starve to death.

No, it is New York or Hollywood if you are to gain fame. So let us examine the best way to get a start.

First of all, it is presumed you have taken part in school plays, church socials, or the like, and scores of friends have told you you ought to be in the movies. The chances are that they are right. It is easy enough to hoodwink enemies and strangers, but you cannot fool your friends. Accordingly, you have now surmounted the first obstacle when you feel, in common with your acquaintances, that you should be in the movies.

The next move is to write a letter to Mr. Zukor, President of Paramount Pictures. Also send a duplicate to Mr. Lasky, the Vice President, so his feelings won't be hurt in case Mr. Zukor brings up your letter in his presence.

Another big man to write to is Mr. Metro, the senior partner of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Tell both Mr. Zukor and Mr. Metro what your friends have told you. State that you are willing to start in at the bottom and work up unless you are a stunt expert, such as a parachute jumper, in which case you will start at the top and work down. Thus you have made your first big impression on the film magnates.

Now if your name is Hormidas McGuirk or something like that, it would be well to select a professional name under which you will act. Don't let this matter give you any trouble, however, as practically any name you pick out will be better than Hormidas McGuirk.

Having posted your letter to the film magnates, you have now got a foothold in the movies. The best, if not the only thing you can do then, is to wait and keep on waiting. By the time a reply is received to your letter, you will be ready to play old character parts without using a white wig.

(Another heaping lesson on breaking into the movies next week.)

To-Day's Good Manners

By Millicent James

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

WHETHER you are hostess or guest, the week-end visit holds good as one of the most alluring features in the calendar of entertainment. And whether the city or the country is the scene of the Friday or Saturday-to-Monday bit of pleasure, the chief concern for its success is that everything shall run as smoothly as clockwork without there being any apparent effort toward that end.

In the role of hostess the point is to have everything that can be in the way of preparation done beforehand. This is particularly imperative where the household is a servantless one or where help is called in as required. Confusion is the bugbear of entertaining. It spoils everything if you have to see the wheels go round. At any rate, it detracts a great deal from the pleasure of any visiting, and peculiarly it does so in the week-end visit where much, even if it is only rest and relaxation, has to be crowded into a short period of time.

The rule, then, is "simplicity." Cut your plans according to your circumstances and not according to those of your guest. By that I mean if your guest happens to be more fortunate than you in riches and is accustomed to all the luxuries, don't, for goodness sake, don't try to raise your household standard temporarily up to her standard of living for her visit, thinking either that you will impress her or make her stay any more enjoyable. On the contrary. You should, however, put yourself out to the extent of making the very best out of all the possibilities of your menage. That accomplished, make no apologies. Whatever else you do, do not apologize.

Two widowed sisters whom I know, having a little house in the country in summer, and a tiny apartment in the city in winter, contrive a delightful social life, keeping their old acquaintances and making new contacts by entertaining almost exclusively at week-ends. As they attend to all the details themselves, they have evolved a system which works for them, and it may for others.

First of all, menus are prepared. These are made as interesting as can be and of such viands as can be cooked hurriedly without much trouble and served easily. There is real art in this part of their system, for they appreciate that meals are important factors, especially at the country house, and so real thought and consideration are given to them.

In very warm weather they eliminate having dinners altogether, or perhaps plan for one only for the whole Friday-to-Monday period, and that on the evening of the guests' arrival. Beyond that, there is a late breakfast, a substantial one consisting of fruit, meat, such as kidneys, liver and bacon, sausages, fried fish and baked hash, creamed codfish or beef or something of the sort, along with hot rolls or muffins and marmalade, preserves or apple sauce and coffee.

This meal is partaken of leisurely, and nothing more is served until teatime or around four or five o'clock, when toast or cookies or petite fours make their appearance for those who happen to be around. Then at seven o'clock comes supper of the Sunday night supper type, where the table is laid with mats, or perhaps runners, and the food placed on the table, or on the table with the tea-wagon at the side, for the tea-wagon is a regular first aid in this establishment.

Scallops, souffles, cold meat loaf, creamed dishes, salads and desserts, such as short cakes, baked apples and cream, fruit custard or possibly a rich large layer cake or a deep dish pie do duty.

Even the Monday morning breakfast is planned. In any case, the point is, at least it is in the plans of these two women I have mentioned, to have the menus definitely written out, supplies on hand and as much of the ordering and cooking done as can be before the arrival of the guests.

In some localities there are advantages in doing the marketing on Saturday; but be that as it may, as soon as the parting guests have been speeded after Monday morning breakfast the house is put to rights, the guests rooms made entirely ready for next week-end's visitors. On Thursday the silver is cleaned, the clean linen distributed, brasses polished and so on, so that all that remains for Friday morning is a cursory dusting, fresh water and flowers put into vases, and the hostesses are entirely ready and free to receive and entertain their guests hospitably and to their own as well as to their guests' pleasure.

It happens in so many cases that the pleasure of a visit is one-sided, and that side the guests', that I am glad to pass on this plan of the two women who, by careful planning ahead, contrive to eliminate the drudgery and to entertain almost as freely as if in a hotel.

The guest's cue is to be cheerful, acquiescent to the hostess's plans, but as the custom is nowadays for hostess and guests to go pretty much their own ways, this rule isn't very weighty with meaning. However, she will take care to conform to such demands as are made upon her, such arrangements as are fixed, to be always gracious and agreeable to everybody.

Nothing is more distressing to hostess and to all concerned than to have a guest even a trifle sullen at odds with any one in the house, one who is disposed to assume a stand-offish, superior attitude. If you are a week-end guest and honestly wish to measure up as the nicest sort of one, you will be tactfully interested in everything that is done for your pleasure and agreeably disposed to all with whom you are brought in contact, even though you are bored to extinction.

All in all, the week end guest gets out of her visit pretty much what she takes to it.

Tales That Tables Tell

By Alma Zaiss

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

IN THE shade of the old apple tree (or perhaps it is only a huge rhododendron that we see by the porch in the picture), what a chance for a unique and informal table from which to serve cool refreshments these hot afternoons!

This is the time to make use of one's most flippant napkins and gayest plates, accompanied by tall glasses of tinted crystal and a smart glass beaker of either iced tea or coffee, since in true American fashion coffee has established itself as part of the regular routine at tea time. Many modern hostesses do not even trouble to ascertain beforehand who prefers which, but provide both beverages so that the choice may be made without hesitation.

In the setting illustrated it would seem that iced coffee has been poured for three, and by the sign of the generous pitcher we suspect that a number of other guests are expected during the afternoon.

For their sake, and the reputation of the hostess, we hope that the beverage has been made in one of the two best ways—either double strength to allow for dilution when poured hot over the ice, or made slightly stronger than ordinary hot coffee and placed in the refrigerator in an air-tight container until wanted. When the second method is used the coffee should be poured into iced glasses (not over ice when serving), so that it retains all of its flavor and aroma. Certain persons prefer this treatment to the first one; on the other hand, there are some who so enjoy the tinkle of ice that a bit more of flavor or fragrance is counted well lost for the sake of a frosty glass.

One may serve wafers or tea cakes with the iced drink, or be more elegant about it, as in the table pictured, which offers plenty of delicate sandwiches, cut in regular fancy forms, with crusts all trimmed—but not made too small for good appetites. Rich cake with a mocha frosting gives the finishing touch to this simple mid-afternoon repast, which is whole some enough to make itself at home on any one's veranda.

The more important the occasion, of course, the more luxurious may be the appointments of such a table. Simple colored linens with fringed edges are very smart for everyday settings where gay pottery and colored glass are used. One decorative table that we recall serves its sandwiches upon plates of Mexican pottery in terra cotta tones, its iced coffee in tall green glasses from Guatemala, from whence come also the hand-woven cotton tea cloth and napkins with bright stripings. For more auspicious times the new tea sets of organdie provide sheer backgrounds for fine china, etched crystal and silver accessories. The organdie sets come in delicate pastel colors; some are finished with hand-rolled hems and a bit of applique in contrasting color; others are shadow-embroidered.

But for the moment we are not at all concerned with schemes planned for elaborate function. The tale that to-day's table tells is of congeniality and comfort such as one finds only in the bosom of the family during informal hours when friends and the neighbors drop in. With summer days coming and going so swiftly we shall want to concentrate attention upon it and enjoy it to the fullest extent before passing on to settings for special guests and party occasions.

Washing Colored Cotton Prints

IN PURCHASING cotton prints it is advisable to make sure that the material is color fast. This is important because dirt flying in through open windows and imbedded in the fabric may rot the fibres unless the pieces are frequently washed. Color fast fabrics of good quality usually have a guarantee imprinted in the selvedge, but if there is any doubt about the washability, a sample should be tested before purchase is made.

To wash colored prints use mild soapsuds and lukewarm water. Before immersing the fabric, dissolve the soap with hot water, then add cold water until the right temperature is attained. Avoid twisting or wringing. As soon as the suds become flat and the water soiled, change to a fresh supply until the fabric is clean.

Rinse three times in lukewarm water and dry as rapidly as possible. If outdoor drying is impracticable, an electric fan indoors will help to speed up the drying process. While still slightly damp, press on the wrong side with a moderately hot iron.

A Tea Time Story

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

IN AN Eastern city there once lived a man who had the misfortune to be married to a very shrewish wife with a vile temper and a viperous tongue. She scolded and derided him day in and day out and robbed him so utterly of all courage and self-confidence that he became poorer and poorer, and at last they were reduced to living in a ramshackle little house without any of the comforts of civilized life. That this did not improve the disposition of his termagant I need not mention. Her abuse was now so violent that the poor man trembled before her, physically as well as morally, and his life was a nightmare to him.

Well, one day this scold, who was always without a servant, being too poor to pay well and too unkind to command any loyalty, called her husband and gave him a small piece of money, telling him to get her a pound of butter from the market. He hurried away, but, as always, instead of paying attention to the business he was engaged in, he mused more over the misery of his lot and the hopelessness of his existence, and so it happened that he lost his piece of money. Unable to replace the loss, as he was without means of his own, he felt that he could not face the anger and scorn of his wife and decided to run away. He went to the harbor, where a ship was just sailing, joined the crew and left his old life behind him. And under a new sky and new stars, away from the withering influence of his wife, he became suddenly quite another man. He was cheerful and courageous, full of resources and unexpected cleverness, and he worked his way up in the world.

He became an aid to the Captain; he then entered the offices of the company to which the ship belonged and there he contrived so many excellent devices that the prosperity of the firm grew and the owner admitted him to a partnership. Finally, after ten years, his success was assured, and he was not only the foremost merchant of the country but also a Vizier and the confidential counselor of the Sultan. Everybody admired him, everybody bowed before him, and he could be well content with himself.

Yet there was still a little sore spot in his heart that would not heal, and this was the remembrance of the contempt with which his wife had always treated him. Not the most fulsome adulation of others could ease this tiny wound to his self-respect, and he felt that he would only be satisfied if that vile woman would be brought to acknowledge his superiority and bow down before him humbled and ashamed. Therefore he fitted out a caravan with the most precious jewels, the most gorgeous silks and damasks, the rarest delicacies, and traveled to the Eastern city to find his erstwhile wife and to impress her with his power and his riches. His only fear was she might be dead and the house might have disappeared.

When he arrived he easily found the old hovel and there, too, was the shrew, looking just as ever, her evil temper acting evidently like a preserving salt to her personality. He entered the house, followed by his slaves, who brought in the marvelous gifts, and he said proudly to his wife: "Behold, O woman, what I am bringing to you." The shrew came forward and looked. She weighed the jewels in her hand, fingered the silks and damasks, and sniffed at the delicacies. And then she turned wrathfully to her husband and shouted: "And where, O fool, is the pound of butter I sent you to buy and for which I have been waiting these last ten years?"

FOLLIES OF FASHION — Straps, Clocked Hose Reveal Swollen Ankles

By Marguerite Barnes

IF YOUR feet are inclined to swell in hot weather, your shoes and stockings should be very carefully chosen. A light stocking with a dark shoe accentuates this defect and a clocked stocking is also bad, as the line follows the bulge of the ankle.

Ornately decorated shoes, as illustrated at upper left, only serve to call attention to what should be made as inconspicuous as possible. The wide strap on these shoes, and on those below (at left) pinch the instep, emphasizing the swelling even more. At the right is shown a good summer shoe for this type of foot. It is fairly light, strapless and is worn with stockings of the same shade. Pumps look well on feet of this type, and dark shoes and hose are preferable to light ones.

On Loving the Outdoors Wisely

FRANCES OLIVIER

"A PERFECT hostess," with a house and garden in vacation land writes to ask if we won't "do something about the city visitor who gets a dose of sunburn or of ivy poisoning or of heat rash, turning an otherwise delightful country home into a hospital and the hostess into day nurse and night nurse combined."

That hostess has our sympathy. Much more of it than the rash guest with the lily white skin who goes for a sunbath minus cream, oil, lotion or sheet between her epidermis and the actinic or burning sun rays. Or the "nature lover" who in her passion for exotic plants kneels among the poison ivy, although summer after summer it bites her.

Heat rash and strawberry rash are quite other things again and not always to be held against the visitor, since one may go along for years without such skin bothers and then all of a sudden break out with them. Of course there is no excuse for the one who knows he shouldn't eat strawberries, but does, especially when he goes visiting.

It's no fun playing hostess to a guest who arrives with an immaculate skin and leaves with a spotted one. It means besides, the extra work of nursing, genuine embarrassment. And, if you have ever had to do it, you know what sport it is acting personal maid to the young thing who brings home a pair of broiled shoulders at the last dinner gong.

If vanity, if interest in one's health will not deter some of these unwise nature lovers from their folly, perhaps consideration of room-mate or kind hostess will. And so our correspondent's point is well taken.

Let the one who is susceptible to ivy poisoning familiarize herself with the appearance of the weed—that she may avoid it. Let the heat rash and the berry rash victims see their physicians about preventive treatments before accepting invitations to country homes. And let every man, woman and child in the land provide themselves with sunproofing preparations before they go forth and flirt with the sun.

The beauty marts and the drug marts are filled with good preparations for protecting the skin in summer. There are oils which bring on a tan without the burn and creams and lotions for the avoidance of both tan and burn. And minus these things a good coating of cream plus a layer or two of powder will serve in emergencies. Even salad oil may be pressed into service for sunproofing purposes.

Next time we'll talk about the treatment of ivy poisoning.

You and Your Child

By Irma Morris

Preventives

"ETHEL simply won't keep in her seat at the table," a mother complained about her four-year-old. "She runs off a dozen times during every meal. I've spanked her, and tied her to the chair, and refused to allow her to come back; and done everything else I can think of; but it seems nothing will cure her of this habit."

When a youngster constantly refuses to do what is expected of her (or him), isn't it wiser to try to see things from the child's point of view, and figure out why she acts in this way? Punishment may simply bring out antagonism in the child, so that she continues to do the annoying thing deliberately, in order to vex her mother. This attitude may carry over into many other situations, in which the little one will try to "get her parent's goat." Or, perhaps the child may welcome the scolding and punishment, as it draws the attention of the whole family to her and gives her the joy of basking in the limelight. Small wonder, then, that she does not discontinue her objectionable practices!

In Ethel's case, the cause of her displeasing conduct was not at all hard to find. The child's seat was not high enough for her, and she found great difficulty in reaching the table. Hence, it was easily seen that her restlessness was caused by discomfort. Soon after this matter had been adjusted, the child discontinued her annoying practice. Very often "naughtiness" could be prevented if adults took into consideration the physical needs of small people. Some children sit at the table on boxes, thus having no support for their backs. How many of us have seen a child sitting on a large dictionary or the family Bible! Such a seat is certainly not comfortable for any length of time. And how often the poor little legs dangle! Wouldn't it be a humanitarian act to provide them with a footstool? We must bear in mind, also, that it is very difficult for active little ones to sit still for a long time, even when they are comfortable. If they eat their meals with the family, don't you think it would be fair and wise, to excuse them from the table just as soon as they have finished?

Footstools in the bathroom for little tots to stand on, so that they can comforably reach the wash basin, toy shelves low enough for little arms to reach, clothing hooks placed low in the closet, and other similar provisions will prevent many scenes and punishments.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping." Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

RADIO AUDITION WILL START IN NEAR FUTURE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21—Many men and women, prominent in the business, cultural, educational and musical life of the state added distinction to the Fourth National Radio Audition, now being conducted by the Atwater Kent Foundation, when they accepted sponsorship on the "State Committee' for northern California.

The National Radio Audition started as "an experiment in idealism" and was originated by A. Atwater Kent, who endowed the Atwater Kent Foundation and chartered it as "a corporation for philanthropic, scientific and educational purposes." It was begun three years ago and its founder stated at that time:

"Somewhere in the United States are a few glorious voices—unknown. Nature created them to give pleasure to all of us. Science has perfected a marvelous instrument enabling millions to hear them—radio.

"Now, in the National Radio Audition is provided a means for discovering these voices and giving them a hearing before the nation."

Today, the altruistic movement founded by Kent has become an institution; in all three past auditions California singers have borne out the truth of his words. "Glorious voices" from California have placed first ,second or both and this year a determined effort will be made by singers of this state to uphold the records established by those in past auditions. Some forty communities in northern California have been asked to participate and conduct local auditions and leaders in all walks of life are aiding with their prestige and influence to make this year's audition the greatest in the history of Auditions.

Many prominent persons are lending their support in discovering deserving young amateur singers between the ages of 18 and 25 yars of both sexes and give them a chance to share in the $25,000 awards and scholarships in leading American conservatories.

Dates and places where local Auditions will be held will be announced in a few days, according to an announcement from northern California headquarters at KPO, San Francisco.

Hunter Fliers To Be Greeted By Los Angeles

RIVERSIDE, July 21.—UP—The famous Hunter brothers of Chicago landed their two equally famous airplanes here today to rest up before "giving Hollywood the once over."

The holders of the world's refueling endurance record made in Chicago will fly to Los Angeles tomorrow to receive a civic welcome prepared for them. Then they will go to the movie capital where they have contracted to make a theater appearance and do some flying for a movie concern.

John and Albert were in the City of Chicago when the landing was made in Riverside. Walter piloted Big Ben, carrying H. H. Perkins the manager of the brothers, Kenneth appeared last in his personal plane.

The citizens of Riverside were surprised by the sudden appearance of the noted fliers, who previously had made stops at Tucson, Ariz., and El Centro, California. Plans were immediately made for a reception tonight under the auspices of the chamber of commerce.

NEW HEARING FOR MOONEY PAL SET

was not true. The two men are serving life terms in prison on charges of perpetrating the preparedness day bombing, which killed 10 persons and injured 40 others. MacDonald's testimony at their trials was that he saw them in the vicinity of Steuart and Market streets shortly before the explosion, which occurred at that intersection. He now claims his identification of the men was false.

The complicated nature of the cases will probably require MacDonald to give his new statements to the supreme court, to the state advisory pardon board and to the governor.

If he is received by the governor Tuesday, his attorneys, Hilary W. Gans and Charles Ruzicka of Baltimore, will probably present to the executive affidavits which assertedly bolster the retraction by MacDonald. The attorneys have refused to send the affidavits to the Governor's secretary at Sacramento, claiming they do not want to deal with a "third party."

Court Decides

Since Billings has been convicted twice, the governor is required by law to accept a recommendation from the supreme court on his appeal for pardon. In Mooney's case he is entitled to have the advisory pardon board hear evidence as well as to make an investigation himself and then hand down a decision.

Chief Justice William H. Waste issued the statement setting forth the opinion of the nigh tribunal. It said:

"Following the regular conference of the members of the court concerning matters pertaining to the court, the seven justices took up and considered the so-called "petition for a rehearing" filed by Attorney Edwii V. McKenzie in the matter of the application of Warren K. Billings for a pardon.

No Procedure

"While there is no procedure either in the constitution or by statute for a rehearing, the justices reached the unanimous opinion that the application filed by Mr. McKenzie on behalf of Billings should be received and regarded as a new application by Billings for a recommendation to the Governor for executive clemency.

"It was further unanimously agreed that, in accordance with the prayer of this petition, Billings be permitted to produce the witness, John MacDonald, before the Justices—just how and when has not yet been decided."

MacDonald's attorneys refused to let him be interviewed until he had told his story to the court and the governor.

Frank P. Walsh, New York attorney who came here by airplane to represent Mooney visited his client in San Quentin prison today and said "I'd never seen him so happy—he was very much heartened."

Hetch Hetchy Probers To Be Named Today

WHOOPEE GIRL OF TEXAS FREED

LOS ANGELES, July 21.—UP—Rudell Heath, "whoopee girl" today was released from Norwalk hospital where she was committed several months ago as insane.

Miss Heath was charged with forging a check for $50. Today she was pronounced cured and Superior Judge Carlos Hardy gave her five years probation when her father promised to take her home to Texas.

Rudell featured in the headlines many times after she deserted Texas for Hollywood.

Once she became piqued at her "boy friend" and startled Hollywood boulevard by entering a drug store where the youth was employed.

Five shots from Rudell's revolver emptied the store of customers and employes but the "boy friend" ducked all of the shots.

Another time a movie director complained to police he attempted to argue with Rudell when her car struck his automobile at an early hour. Rudell, the director asserted, produced a milk bottle and hit him on the head.

Another chapter on the police log shows that a Chinese herb doctor reported Rudell became mad at him and kicked in his office door.

Burkhart's attorneys unsuccessfully attempted to secure a new trial on a reduced penalty on the ground that "not Burkhart the man but Burkhart the drunken sop committed the deed."
